

THE RECEPTION

Tendered the Visiting Veterans and Their Friends by the

STATE LADIES OF THE G. A. R.

At the McLure Last Night was a Largely Attended and Interesting Occasion—The Parlor Prettily Decorated—Addresses by Mr. Curtis and Adjutant General Appleton—The Wind-up of the Veterans' Encampment.

One of the most enjoyable features of the Union Veterans' encampments was the reception given the delegates by the Ladies of the G. A. R. It took place in the McLure house parlors, and the hours of receiving were from 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon until midnight.

It was a brilliant social function, the hostesses doing themselves proud in their efforts to entertain the throngs that frequented the reception. Many distinguished veterans lent their presence, and the scene at all times was striking in its brilliancy. Music, songs and addresses formed part of the intellectual menu, and in the rooms adjoining the main parlor, cake, ices, and lemonade were served. There was not a moment when the guests lagged, and the recipients of the night's hospitality of the Ladies of the G. A. R. will carry to their homes many delightful memories of the affair.

The parlors were beautifully decorated with tiny flags and bunting, further embellished by the tasteful distribution of towering palms, and fitting combination of roses and carnations in pink and white. The decorations were the work of Mrs. Howard Thompson, of the McLure, and her tasty handiwork was much admired.

Under the illuminations at night the uniforms and glittering badges harmonized with the profuse display of the national colors. The evening concert was artistic and enjoyable. The Y. M. C. A. mandolin club at intervals discoursed a pleasing programme of popular and classical selections, and Prof. J. Pinkus rendered several piano solos. The only vocal music was that given by Mrs. Nellie Sweeney Palmer, the Ladies of the G. A. R. paid this talented vocalist a very pretty compliment, soliciting her services on account of her being the daughter of the late Col. A. J. Sweeney, whose patriotic stand as Mayor of Wheeling in the early "sixties" is so well known, and which were so nicely recognized in the last national encampment of the G. A. R. at Minneapolis. Mrs. Palmer outshone herself in answer to this tribute, favoring the assemblage with several solos. She was accompanied by Mrs. Charles O. Roemer.

The address of welcome in behalf of the Ladies of the G. A. R. was delivered by Hon. W. H. C. Curtis, whose oratorical ability is so well known as to need no further commendation. He spoke of the qualifications for membership of this patriotic woman's order, the objects, and its general principles. He closed with a brilliant peroration, eulogizing the devoted band in blue, whose deeds were none the less less than the deeds of Caesar, the armies of Alexander the Great, or the famed Imperial Guard of Napoleon. His address roused the patriotic sentiment of all present, and the veterans in front of him were deeply moved.

General J. W. M. Appleton, adjutant general of the National Guard of West Virginia, and a distinguished member of the G. A. R. button received a flattering reception, when called upon to make an address. He spoke as follows: "Some of the stump speakers in our last campaign, had a habit of beginning their long winded talks with the relations of incidents in Roman history, probably this classic precedent is one to be followed, so I will mention here, that it is said that in the year 362 before Christ, a chasm was opened in the Forum of old Rome, in that great public square in the great city, and that the soothsayers or wise men of the city, declared that it would be closed by the sacrifice of Rome's greatest treasure. The people were at loss to interpret the omen, when M. Curtilus, a noble youth, stepped forward and declared that the state possessed no nobler treasure no greater treasure than a brave citizen in arms, and clad in his armor, with his good sword in his hand, he mounted his steed and urged his horse to leap into the chasm, and it closed over him. My sisters and brothers, thus it was with this beloved country in the years from 1861 to 1865, after Christ.

"Our country was rent open by a wide a terrible chasm, and to close it, required the sacrifice of the best of the youth of both North and South. Before me, I see those, who in their early manhood, pressed forward as Curtius did, a willing sacrifice for our Fatherland. We, whose fate it was to be spared the completeness of the sacrifice, but whose steps led us to the brink, where we could look down into the dizzy awful depth that yawned below us, we offered ourselves for the sacrifice, but were mercifully spared. Spared to do all we could in our after lives, to obliterate as far as may be the traces of the great grief which had been between one part of our people and the other. Let no one think that the fact that the chasm, for a time, separated one part of our people from the other part obliterated from our minds that we were by God's will one people, and that we were and are to continue one people. The chasm of Curtius claimed but one victim, ours, thousands upon thousands of the best of the sons of the North and the South. Those that came forward from their Southern homes, to give their lives for what they esteemed right, met death as cheerfully and bravely as our comrades that we saw go down before our eyes.

"The endurance, the courage, and unselfish self sacrifice of the man of America was manifested in the highest degree by our brothers, who were once arrayed against us, and we honor them for their virtues. Brave fighters in a bad cause!" "Happily we are now re-united, all again gathered under one Father's roof, one flag above us, and no divided allegiance to estrange our hearts. There has never been much bitterness between the true soldiers, we learned to respect each other, under the withering blasts of the battlefield, and the intercourse between veterans of the North and South is brotherly and delightful at the present time. This is decorous and right. We comrades served under that flag that is emblematic of equal rights for all, and no division of this Nation. In this we are privileged. Now in our age, our hearts are as true to our country as they were in our youth and early manhood. The consciousness of having borne arms for the Nation is a proud thing to look back upon.

"As our ranks become more broken, as our old bodies grow weaker, the remembrance of duty well done is a comfort to each survivor, but the printed record of your services and your heroism should be completed by our state, so that any man that has had the honor to serve the state will have the record of his services so inscribed, that he who runs can read it.

"I have begun a card index, intended when published, to embody the name and service record of every body, of whose service there is any record, from private to generals. As there are many thousands of names to be transcribed, and many rolls to be examined, this work may run pretty well through my term of office, but when it is done, we shall have a substantial and accurate account of the Union soldiers of West Virginia. "I have also asked from the Grand Army of the Republic, the return of the medals that the state has provided for its soldiers, deeming it the proper thing that the state itself should give the medal directly to the soldier, or his heirs. The medals are now in my custody, and shall be safely kept. I shall feel obliged if my comrades will send me the postoffice address of any soldier entitled to a medal or of the heirs of such soldiers. To meet old soldiers, it is always a pleasure to me, and I trust to see many of you in my office during my tour of duty. If I can serve any of you in any way at any time, it will be a pleasure to do so."

Prof. F. H. Crago recited the "The Blue and the Gray," in an excellent manner. Appropriate remarks were made by Captain Dwyer, Commander Mauley and other notable G. A. R. men. General handshaking and goodbyes were exchanged, bringing to a termination an extremely successful affair.

Sons of Veterans' Dance.

The encampment proceedings wound up last night in the dance given at Odd Fellows' hall, by U. S. Grant Camp, Sons of Veterans. It was largely attended and proved a success in every respect. Dancing was indulged in until early hour, and no feature of the encampment proved more enjoyable than the closing affair given by the Sons of "Vets."

EXPORTING BUTTER.

First Experiment Made by the Agricultural Department.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 6.—The first experimental exportation of butter from this country was made Wednesday from New York City, when the government, through an agent, sent by the agricultural department, shipped three-quarters of a ton of selected butter for sale in Europe. The result of this experiment is of great importance to the agricultural interests, as it is the first step in an effort of the administration to extend materially the market for American butter, and gain some of the trade with Great Britain in particular, which Denmark practically controls with considerable profit. An accidental object is to determine what improvements are needed in transportation facilities. Some butter is now being sent abroad by private firms, but it is alleged to be of inferior grades. Unsatisfactory storage in crossing the ocean, and carelessness in leaving the shipments uncovered docks at Southampton before being loaded into freight cars, thus making the butter soft, have further deteriorated its value in the English market. The butter sent yesterday comes from the Iowa agricultural department and a creamery at Windsor, Vermont. Subsequent shipments, which will be made during the summer at intervals will be of better quality than the first, to build up a high standard only the best grades will be shipped and the butter will be sold at the prevailing market prices. The present shipment goes among the shipped stores of the steamer St. Paul and will be kept at a low temperature. The cargo is made up of packages of different sizes, some of which are most satisfactory. A department agent will meet the boat at Southampton and take proper care of the product and attend to its sale. The appointment of butter agents by the department at New York and Southampton to take care of these interests is possible.

VOYAGE OF DISCOVERY.

An American Schooner Searching for a Wonderful Guano Island.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 6.—The schooner Louisa D. cleared at the custom house yesterday for a cruise to New Baldice Island. Her trip promises to be a long and romantic one and before she comes back her crew expects that the American flag will be floating over a little coral reef close to the equator that no man has or nation claimed. New Baldice is the name given to the island, but so far the most accurate location that can be given for it is that it is in the North Pacific ocean. The island is said to be covered with an enormous and wonderful deposit of guano, and for nearly fifty years numerous vessels have started out in search of it, but they always returned without being able to give its location. It was first reported as being in existence by Lord Clipperton, an eccentric English navigator, naturalist and discoverer and the man who gave his name to Clipperton Island. He said in his report of his cruises that the island lay approximately in north latitude 16 and west longitude 117, but is described as low, and navigators say a vessel could sail within a dozen miles of it and pass by without seeing it. That part of the ocean is out of the track of vessels plying between regular open ports and should the island exist, it could only be found by much diligent search for it. This is the object of the Louisa D. Schuyler, which is being dispatched by the Oceanic Phosphate Company. Captain F. Errat will command her and he says he will not come back until he finds the island. He was the mate of the schooner Moonlight that made an unsuccessful search for the island about a year ago. The schooner has on board a plentiful supply of provisions and a quantity of lumber with which to build a house on the island, when found.

HAWAIIAN AFFAIRS.

Object of the Visit of the Japanese War Ship to Honolulu.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 6.—The steamer Alameda from Honolulu April 23, brings the news that the Australia, on April 23, brought via San Francisco, from the Hawaiian minister at Tokio, advices informing this government that the Japanese warship, "Naniwa," was on her way to Honolulu with a Japanese commissioner on board to investigate the cases of Japanese immigrants who were recently denied landing by this government.

Japanese now in quarantine were to be liberated yesterday, but a fresh case of smallpox will keep the men in confinement for another eighteen days more. The Hawaiian cabinet has decided after many conferences on the labor question that Asiatic laborers must be sooner or later replaced by Americans and that the sooner such work was commenced the better it would be for the island. How to apply a remedy was next discussed. The government decided it necessary to open a labor bureau under government auspices.

Important Pension Order.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 6.—An important order, prohibiting a pension claimant whose claim has been adjudicated, either favorably or unfavorably, from filing papers for its reconsideration if disallowed, or for an increase if pension has been issued, until one year from the date of the decision, was promulgated by the commissioner of pensions and may be issued soon. The purpose of the proposed order is to lessen the great volume of work confronting the bureau and to enable it to devote most of the time of the examiners to original claimants.

THE A. O. U. W.

Work of the Grand Lodge Over-Election of Officers and a Banquet.

SPECIAL DISPATCH to the Intelligencer. PARKERSBURG, W. Va., May 6.—The work of the grand lodge of the A. O. U. W. is at an end. The election of officers was begun this morning, and the entire morning session was taken up in the election of one officer, that of grand master workman. There were three candidates and Sam. R. Nuzum, of Fairmont, was finally chosen. An adjournment was taken until 2:30 this afternoon, when the meeting was called to order, and the assemblage proceeded to elect the remainder of the officers. Following the election was the installation of the newly elected grand officers. Tonight, the grand officers, delegates and visitors were the guests of the Enterprise Lodge No. 25, of this city, at a banquet at the Blennerhassett, where all joined in a merry feast after their arduous labors of the past three days. The election of officers resulted as follows: Grand master workman, Sam. R. Nuzum, Fairmont; grand foreman, George T. Bryson, of Moundsville; grand over-seer, J. T. Kerton; grand recorder, Silas M. Hathway, Wheeling; grand receiver, William Swertfeger, Wheeling; grand guide, Charles Stoetzer, Wellsburg; grand inside watchman, Alex. Foreman, Grafton; grand outside watchman, G. Voelker, Martinsburg; grand medical examiner, Dr. G. A. Ashman, Wheeling.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S ALLIANCE

Of the Evangelical Association in Session in Pittsburgh.

PITTSBURGH, May 6.—The first general convention of the Young People's Alliance of the Evangelical Association will be held in this city July 25, 30, and 31, and August 1. Delegates from all over the country will be present, and a number of noted speakers of the church are expected.

This society of young people consists of 312 local alliances composed of about thirty thousand members. These alliances are grouped under twenty conference branch organizations, one of which is in Germany, one in Switzerland and one in Japan.

Rev. S. P. Sprong, of Cleveland, O., is president of the society.

Iron and Steel Trade.

PITTSBURGH, May 6.—The iron and steel trade this week is about what it was last report, with the local situation showing less strength. At other points dullness and lowering prices are still the main features shown. In the eastern market the pig iron trade restriction of production is being talked of, and lower prices are being made. In New York the business outlook is made worse by threatened labor troubles. Southern pig iron is pressing the market to a lower level. There is a little buying in bills, and falling off in the demand for skelp.

Prospects in the sheet iron trade are only fair. The event of the week in the western market was the reduction of freight rates from Birmingham, Ala., to western points. The reduction as yet has not resulted in much larger sales of southern iron. At all points the bar iron trade is extremely dull, and makers of structural material are pushing for orders.

At Cincinnati, pig iron prices are being shaded. There is little more activity shown in the iron ore trade and it is thought that consumers will soon place their orders. Cleveland reports some quite large bill sales in prospect and a fair demand for wire rods.

Farrow's Trial.

PITTSBURGH, May 6.—The trial of Lieut. Edwin Farrow, of New York, charged with conspiracy to defraud, in connection with the late alleged insurance swindle, was postponed until next Monday. It was on the list for to-day and was called just before noon. Attorney John R. Robb, for the prosecution, announced the prosecution was not ready and asked that it be postponed. The defense urged for an immediate trial, but after some discussion Judge McClung allowed the case to go over.

Farrow's bail was this morning reduced from $4,000 to $2,000. Judge McClung also followed Farrow to remain in the court room until his attorneys could obtain bail for him.

AMUSEMENTS.

"A Contented Woman," the farcical comedy, will be the attraction of the Opera House, Tuesday night, May 11. It was written with a three-fold object in view; to amuse its patrons and make money for its owners, but especially to display to the best advantage the histrionic abilities and the charms of Carloline Miskel Hoyt, its author's wife. It has fulfilled all these purposes. It has pleased thousands of patrons, made big money and the patrons of the Opera House will see for themselves next week in what a charming light it places Mrs. Hoyt. That lady's "worse half" does not believe that "beauty unadorned is adorned the most." Au Contrarie, as the French say, he has given her a part to play which demands that she wear the richest and most stylish gowns and gems worth a fortune. Mrs. Hoyt has excellent taste in dress. She designs her own gowns. Her husband is a perfect paragon in one respect at least, he never demurs a moment at any dress-making bill, and she has carte blanche at Tiffany's. The ladies will be interested in seeing how a lady thus favored allures herself. The opportunity presents itself.

A COLONIAL TEA

Given by the Ladies' Centennial Committee at Steubenville.

SPECIAL DISPATCH to the Intelligencer. STEUBENVILLE, Ohio, May 6.—The ladies' centennial committee of this city gave a colonial tea in the court house this evening, which was one of the largest attended social functions ever held here. It was given to raise funds for the coming centennial celebration, and it will be repeated to-morrow evening. The court room and offices were converted into bowers of beauty by those having charge of the decorations. It was a public function, and hundreds attended during the evening. In one room, which was appropriately fitted up in colonial style, sat Mrs. Christian Fisher, who is 101 years of age, she received during the evening scores of visitors the room and needed to enjoy the affair not complaining of fatigue; music was furnished by orchestras and an old time Virginia reel was danced. The ladies' committee, numbering nearly 100, and many attending were in colonial costume. Fully 75 men and women were attired in colonial dress to represent historical personages, and George and Martha Washington held a levee and received all the prominent personages. An Indian village with wigwams, pine trees and savages was in one of the rooms of the court house.

AMERICANS SAVED

From the Awful Paris Fire—Humanitarian Vengeance.

NEW YORK, May 6.—A dispatch to the Journal from Paris says there were very few Americans present at the charity bazaar at the time of the fire, and these seem to have been especially favored by fortune.

Mrs. William Astor left the bazaar a quarter of an hour before the conflagration. Miss Fane, a sister of Frederick Fane, an American residing in the Rue Prony, who is almost totally deaf, was in the centre of the building when the fire broke out. Her escape was largely due to her infirmity. She saw the fire without hearing the tumult ensuing on the discovery, and made her way to the exit, being among the first to reach it.

Baroness de Selliere, formerly Mrs. Livermore, of New York, also reached the door among the first.

Consul General Morris was passing near the Rue Jena, riding on a bicycle, when the cry of fire was raised. He left the machine in the street and devoted himself all night to assisting the firemen.

Mr. Whitney, of Boston, an old volunteer fireman, who is living in Paris, also assisted the firemen in the work of rescue until day break.

When the Journal correspondent reached the scene, Gen. Saussier, military governor of Paris, with Gen. Foville, was rushing about restricted and calling for the premier to send "for my men" from Quai d'Orsay barracks.

"Look," he said to Henry Blunt, "this American journalist will have a strange tale to tell of municipal negligence, but let us help."

One mystery is now cleared up. The victims were besmeared with flaming tar, and other inflammable compounds dropping from the roof, and this was why there was no prelude of asphyxia. The fair flower of French womanhood was singed like poultry and literally burned alive.

NO TRUTH IN IT.

The So-Called Farmer's Trust Has No Existence.

CHICAGO, May 6.—The Farmer's Voice says to-day: "Newspapers all over the country have been publishing an utterly foundationless story to the effect that the farmers were forming a gigantic trust in the nature of an oath bound organization whose object it was alleged, was to control the production and distribution of all agricultural products. The scene of the earlier operations of this mysterious combine was laid in New Jersey, where the Agricultural Protective Association had been duly incorporated. Many of the leading farmers of the country have written the Voice emphatically asserting entire ignorance of such a trust, and indignantly protesting against the proposed combine and its purposes. The secretary of state of New Jersey in response to an inquiry said: 'I have examined the records of this office and do not find any corporation organized under the laws of this state by the name of the Agricultural Protective Association.'"

A PATHETIC SCENE

Thirty Negroes Show Remarkable Gratitude on Escaping the Flood.

NATCHEZ, Miss., May 6.—One of the most pathetic scenes since the flood, took place yesterday. Thirty negroes drifting on a raft were landed here, having been floating for four days with nothing to eat. No sooner had they reached land than they fell down and worshipped it. A colored Baptist minister being near by offered his services and began at once to baptize the whole crowd. They refused to eat or leave the river bank until the baptism was completed. They said the flood was a visitation of divine wrath.

A Double Crime.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 6.—Kittie Fehler, a pretty girl, 20 years of age is dead; Dr. H. C. Wille, a prominent physician is in jail, and Luther Watson, a well known young man is a fugitive from justice, on account of an attempt on the part of the three to hide a girl's shame. Yesterday it is charged, Dr. Wille performed a criminal operation on the girl from which she died early this morning. Dr. Wille's arrest followed and the officers of the law are after the dead girl's alleged betrayer, Luther Watson.

Fight Among Workers.

CHICAGO, May 6.—A fight occurred to-day between striking iron workers and Co., at 4539 Cottage Grove avenue, which almost developed into a riot before the arrival of the police. Three non-union men were injured, one of which was badly hurt by a crow-bar where he was working. The others were hit with bricks. The trouble arose over an attempt of the strikers to persuade the non-union men to quit work.

Bryan's Cousin No 4 red.

CANDO, N. D., May 6.—While moving a pile of manure on George Hangburn's farm, the dead body of William Bryan was discovered buried under the pile. The top of the dead man's head was crushed in, showing plainly that murder had been committed. Mr. Bryan claimed to be a cousin of the late William J. Bryan, and was undoubtedly murdered for his money.

THERE is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly announcing it incurable, Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses of ten drops of a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address, F. J. Prof. Barnard Makes a Successful Trip at the Tennessee Centennial.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., May 6.—To-day at the Tennessee Centennial exposition grounds, Professor Arthur Barnard, physical instructor of the Young Men's Christian Association of Nashville, began a journey in an airship constructed by himself. The officials of the exposition and the people attending the exposition witnessed the ascent of the aerial voyager. The ship moved off in perfect order and passed out of sight in a few minutes. Professor Barnard promised to sail against the wind after arising into the air and did so. The air ship will be continued in use at the exposition. Professor Barnard said he could land at the starting point tonight. The air ship is forty-six feet long and twenty feet in diameter.
